TRY PRIMARY LAW

Congressional Preliminaries Will Give Test to New Enactment.

FEELERS BEING SENT OUT

Candidacies of Charles J. Searle, Frank G. Allen and Burton F. Peek Assumed—Gossip Follows.

It now seems probable that the new primary law will have a trial in this congressional district this year. It would be almost impossible to get any action on the congressional primaries before the time the law goes into effect, which is the first of next month. So those who expected to put in their winter evenings studying the new enactment will have to get busy during the hot weather and get posted on the workings of the law.

Interest Increases. Having been thrown into this campaign so suddenly, the politicians picked up the situation in a minute and there is as much gossip now as if the war had been brewing for weeks. Some are taking glances backward to the gubernatorial campaign of a year ago, and some are looking forward to the senatorship, the contest for which will be in progress one year hence. Each has a bearing on the contest that has been so suddenly precipitated.

Feelers Are Out. The feelers are already out ahead of Charles J. Searle, of Rock Island, and Frank G. Allen and Burton F. Peek, of Moline. The results of these will determine whether any or all of these men will be in the field. If Moline comes forward with only one candidate against one from Rock Island that will probably be Mr. Allen. While there is an element opposed to him in his own city, the chances are that they would prefer him to a Rock Island man whom they have opposed both in and out of season.

Senatorship Involved. While there are the old sores in the republican party that have not healed, after the contest of a year ago, the prospect of an encounter next summer now seems to be involved in this campaign. The machine that a congressman is able sometimes to build leads some of the republicans to believe that the senatorship is not to be disregarded at this time. There is no question of the candidacy of Richard Yates, since that letter was opened by mistake in Springfield and revealed the fact that the first assessment could be paid any time. And although there is an uncertainty as to the attitude of Senator Cullom, there is the anti-Yates feeling that will go to someone else if not to Cullom.

A congressman with a machine can do something in this line if he is so disposed and the senators and representatives who are to vote on the United States senatorship will be selected next year.

Rheumatism Cured in 24 Hours. T. J. Blackmore, of Haller & Blackmore, Pittsburg, Pa., says: "A short time since I procured a bottle of Mystic Cure. I got me out of the house in 24 hours. I took to my bed with rheumatism nine months ago and the Mystic Cure is the only medicine that did me any good. I had five of the best physicians in the city, but I received very little relief from them. I know the Mystic Cure to be what it is represented and take pleasure in recommending it to other poor sufferers." AN EVENTFUL DAY

Interesting and Impressive Services at Trinity Church.

BISHOP FAWCETT OFFICIATES

Institution of New Rector in Morning and Confirmation in Evening.

Yesterday was a day of interesting and impressive ceremonies at Trinity church. The services of the day, which were made particularly important by the annual visitation of the bishop of the diocese to the parish, opened at 7:30 in the morning with early celebration conducted by the new rector, Rev. Granville H. Sherwood, and Rev. Dr. H. A. Percival, of Peoria.

Institution of New Rector. At the 10:45 service, office of institution of Rev. Granville H. Sherwood as parish priest was conducted by Bishop M. Edward Fawcett. It was a beautiful ceremony, the sermon being preached by Dr. Percival, who took his text from the fourth verse of the 110th Psalm: "Thou art a priest forever."

The average priest, Dr. Percival said, is a mystery, not only to those who but partially comprehend the Christian faith, but to the most acute scholar. The more closely they follow his course the more bewildered and amazed they are. They see him part of an immense system, bound by vows never to be recalled, pledged to a work which in theory can never end. They see him varied to meet all needs, all times and places. Finally and most various, his type seems to be imperishable. Yet at best, the priest is no more than a human being.

Power From God. What his opponents have refused to take into account are things over which he has no absolute control. His power is from God, and so the people believe. To destroy the priest you must really destroy the people, or their faith in God. Dr. Percival commenting on the conception of the priest by some as "tolling through his narrow round of systematic dogmas, or creeping along some low level of school boy morality, or addressing the initiated in mystic phraseology" held that the priest is vindicated by the need, "by the iniquity and private vice of nominally christian nations." Dr. Percival took up various phases of the work of the priest, placing altar ministrations as most important, and preaching as next. He pointed out that wherever preaching has been neglected, periods of intolerance and superstition are found. "Our real strength lies in presenting the pure gospel, as living men to living men," said Dr. Percival. A wide acquaintance with truth was stated to be one of the needs of the preacher of today. He spoke of the time when a priest could go among his people ignorant of their daily lives. The barriers today are so broken down that the priest "must hold the people, not by respect due to the divine office, but by the power of truth." He pointed out the necessity of the minister being a well read man, since he must move as the world moves. The preacher of today, Dr. Percival held, must be a man of unswerving loyalty to the truth. If he feels what he says, and speaks with clear conviction, he cannot present truth as if it were fiction.

Manliness of Modern Priest. The speaker gave manliness as one of the great needs of the modern priest. He pointed out the incorrectness in the common belief among irreligious men, that the ministry is not a manly calling. While here and there there may be grounds for such a conviction, it is never a true conception.

Dr. Percival deplored the movement of the churches up to the planes of the wealthy, and away from the poor, "is the honest artisan to become soured and an enemy of God's church by an aristocratic, denominational, protestant Episcopalian Christianity?" he asked, answering that if this is so it will be almost impossible to reclaim him by means of the city missions.

Dr. Percival took up the requirements on the part of the laity, in connection with the requirements of the successful preacher. He spoke of the necessity of harmony in the church, and said that in the haste of bringing people to confirmation, the church becomes often an aggregation, rather than a congregation, and is gathered together instead of being built up. The result of such a church's influence on the rector is that he is constantly reaching for material, but not building, making many calls but doing little real pastoral work. Dr. Percival concluded his sermon with a helpful address to the new rector, admonishing him to "create for yourself no Utopia to depress his spirits, and enfeeble his earnest, clear deliverance of God's message."

Bishop Confirms. In the evening Bishop Fawcett administered the sacred rite of confirmation to a class of young people and two adults that had been prepared by Rev. Samuel W. Day, of St. Katherine's, during his administration as priest in charge, and who presented the candidates to the bishop. In the sanctuary also and participating in the services of the evening were Revs. Sherwood and Percival.

Bishop Fawcett preached the evening sermon. It was a characteristic, able and eloquent discourse. Yesterday being Expectation Sunday.

FLOWER'S NOVEL ROLE.

Chrysanthemum Leaves a Substitute For Tobacco.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the following statement made by the London Lancet:

In December last A. W. Martin, the medical officer of health of Gorton, recommended the smoking of dried chrysanthemum petals as a pleasant and harmless substitute for tobacco. Perhaps he thought that it would be a gentle mode of weaning those in danger of becoming slaves to the pipe or providing a pleasant substitute for those with whom tobacco did not agree.

But a case has been reported of unlooked for improvement, attributed to chrysanthemum smoking, in a person who had been a victim for fifteen years to frequent and violent epileptic fits.

due to chronic dyspepsia. "He smoked his first pipe on Jan. 1 and began at once to improve, so that now he is able to take his half hour's walk without a stick instead of being afraid to cross a space of nine feet with it. He can get six nights' rest out of seven instead of one out of four and can even attend church."

However skeptical any one may be as to the cause of the improvement and however mindful of post hoc propter hoc, the patient is to be congratulated. He adds that the flowers act best when mixed with cascarrilla bark, as suggested by Mr. Martin. Should this case attain much publicity there will soon be a run on chrysanthemum blooms.
